

Mutated Space Worm

The Lucisti Virus claiming yet another creature of the universe, Mutated Space Worms have become an all too common threat within the Pardus Cluster. Though researchers are unsure whether the Lucisti Virus altered these once docile creatures, causing them to be far more aggressive than they once were, or whether these pitiable creatures simply no longer understand their place in the cosmos, these Space Worms attempt to break down any and all matter, both living and dead.

Locations

Mutated Space Worms can be found on or around asteroid tiles in the Pardus Core.
