

Space Dragon Queen

It is the Queen the thousands of myths and legends written in the ancient tomes of history circle around. For a single decade, once every 500 years, this glorious monarch will descend from the cosmos onto fertile land, unprotected by her worrisome brood as she continues yet again the cycle of life. Nestled deep within the sheltering land where the atmosphere provides warmth enough to incubate the eggs of the new generation she lays, the Space Dragon Queen watches over them for 10 long years until they are ready to hatch and once again return to their true home amidst the stars. The most formidable of the Dragon species, rest assured the Queen is, at any given time while in space, protected by the warriors of her brood, their beloved matriarch one the Dragons will not give up easily without a bitter battle.
